NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS YOUR BUSINESS CAN'T AFFORD NOT TO KEEP

For many of us, the simple act of turning the pages of the calendar from January to February marks the beginning of the end of our commitment to follow through on New Year's resolutions made in 2010. According to Time magazine, the top ten most frequently broken New Year's resolutions include vows to save money and manage stress. If you are the owner of your own business you probably know all too well how impossible keeping those promises can seem even in the best of economic times. In today's marketplace, however, your business faces even more challenges both internally as well as externally.

Since 1967, we have helped small and mid-sized businesses throughout the Valley weather economic booms and busts by providing the type of proactive legal counsel that helps you develop detailed strategies to anticipate and avoid otherwise costly litigation. These "preventative legal care" services are tailored to meet the individual needs of our business clients and seek to diagnose and treat existing conditions in their early stages before they ripen into contentious, distracting and expensive legal disputes.

Regardless of what particular type of business you may be in, chances are you are already faced with a rapidly evolving landscape of issues involving: (1) the day to day management of your business and the potentially changing roles of your management team; (2) the optimal use and preservation of your business' tangible assets (such as key employees, real property, equipment, and inventory); (3) the preservation of your business' intangible assets (such as its intellectual property and trade secrets, trade names and/or trade marks); & (4) the capitalization of your business and its ability to meet its debt service obligations by maximizing the recovery on accounts receivable.

By taking the time to consult with seasoned business law attorneys before a problem arises your business may avoid otherwise extremely costly litigation, ultimately saving you money; money that your business desperately needs to invest in its future growth. Proactively meeting the challenges posed by your business' changing needs will greatly reduce the otherwise needless stress caused by "going it alone" in a tough economy. By consulting with the experienced business law professionals of Owens & Perkins living up to those pesky New Year's resolutions just may become a whole lot easier in the months ahead!

If you would like to schedule a consultation to find out more about preventative legal care services for your business, please call us at 480.994.8824.
